"A raw food diet is the healthiest and most natural form of nutrition for your pet. It best replicates their food in the wild, and is free from any additives and preservatives that you might find in a grocery store brand. Make the switch today, and your pet will live a longer, healthier, and happier life."

3P Naturals' business philosophy is simple: we provide superior raw pet food products backed up by competent and dedicated customer service. We produce products that incorporate only the finest ingredients and that meet or exceed strict quality standards and production control procedures.

We are proud of our products and our people and we firmly believe that our raw pet foods do reflect the way nature intended your pet to eat. In June of 2006 we changed our corporate name to 3P Naturals to more clearly reflect our philosophy and our products.
